Starbucks is getting close to opening at 2649 Connecticut Ave, and its representatives will discuss its plans for a sidewalk cafe at the WPCA Executive Committee next Tuesday at Stanford.

WPCA is hosting a solar information session for our neighbors to learn solar basics, technical considerations, feasibility, financing options and incentives for installing solar panels. Washington has some of the country's most favorable solar incentives, and a "51st State co-op" will soon be open to all District residents to take advantage of group bulk-purchasing power to get discounted pricing and a quality installation. All interested neighbors are welcome. Presenters: Molly Simpson from the DC Department of Energy & Environment and Yesenia Rivera from Solar United Neighbors. Wednesday February 28, 7 to 9 pm, at All Souls Episcopal Church, 2300 Cathedral Ave (the entrance to the basement is from the parking lot south of the church; an elevator is available). RSVP here.

At the February DCPS Community Forums, Chancellor Wilson and members of his leadership team will discuss what students are experiencing in the classroom and the Cornerstone lessons that are taught as part of the DCPS curriculum. Tuesday February 6th at 8:45 am at Oyster-Adams on Calvert St and at 6 pm at Hardy MS.

Tregaron's spring hunt for candy-filled eggs will be on Saturday March 24, 10 to 11:30 am. Details here.
