Woodley Park News

The owner of 2735 Connecticut Ave wants to tack an addition onto the rear of the existing building. The resulting building would be roughly twice as deep as the current one, and the rear addition would be 20 feet taller than the structure in front. The renovated building would contain eight two-bedroom units, roughly 1000 sq ft each. The proposal needs historic preservation approval. A copy of the plans are on the website. We expect to discuss the proposal at the next WPCA Executive Committee meeting.

The next Meet-Your-Neighbors Happy Hour will be on Thursday March 19 from 6 to 8 pm at District Kitchen, 2606 Connecticut Ave, with a 20% discount on the entire menu. RSVP here.

DDoT wants to know what you think about the DC Circulator. It wants to hear from people who use the Circulator as well as people who don't use it in order to learn why it doesn't meet their needs. Take the survey here.

Think the area around the Woodley Park playground is a mess? Well, you can help to clean it up on Saturday April 18 from 10 am to noon. Details and sign-up here.

The next Tuesday Talk at the Library will discuss how climate change and urban development have affected ecology in our local gardens and wildlife. Tino's Pizzeria is offering a 10% discount that evening for talk attendees. Tuesday March 24, 7 pm at the Cleveland Park Library. RSVP here. Details on this talk and the rest of the upcoming schedule are here.

If you're considering downsizing from house to apartment, there's a meeting that might interest you. On Saturday March 21, speakers will cover finding an apartment and financial issues. 9:30 to noon at the Library. Details and registration here. Sponsored by Cleveland & Woodley Park Village, the Cleveland Park Historical Society and the DC Public Library.
