You might have seen the headline in the Post, "D.C. panel endorses Bowser's guidelines for high-rises in historic districts." The headline is inconsistent with what's in the article and with what HPRB did. The article correctly says that the Board's vote merely "allows its members to consider the Bowser administration's design guidelines." It continues, "board members cautioned that their support of the guidelines does not mean they will approve plans for high-rises. The board is still governed by the city's historic preservation laws and will review each case on its merits, they said."

Tuesday Talk. The next talk features Jim Popkin discussing his new book, Code Name Blue Wren, about convicted Cuban spy Ana Montes, who used to live on Macomb St. Tuesday October 17, 7pm at the CP Library. Seating is limited, so register early.

Upcoming events at the Zoo: Boo at the Zoo, October 20-22 and ZooLights, select evenings between November 24 and December 30. You will need a $6 ticket to see the lights this year.
